Introduction

When Tony Ng graduated from Kuala Lumpur College of Arts (KLCA), his aim of making art is to explore the meaning of beauty. He realised beauty exists in everywhere and everything if we can feel a connection with it. A painting, a book and a song is able to touch our heart and makes us feel happy, sad, regrets or any mixed feelings, in which a sense of beauty is created. Every feeling is the most beautiful moment of our life that makes who we are today. Tony Ng found sarong and butterfly to represent his statement of beauty of life moment.

Sarong, batik patterns and butterfly are three main elements to compose Tony Ng's paintings. Viewers may create initial impressions these three symbols highlight Malaysian culture. However, Tony Ng would like to share beyond culture identity and his paintings contain more humanistic cares than surfaces.
